THE AIR PROGRAM FOR VETERANS COURTS

GRADUATED
ACCOUNTABILITY

“The AIR program makes it far easier for us to maintain consistent contact with our veterans and provide them with the support they need.”

Mark Teachey, Veterans Court Director
Harnett County, NC

Designed specifically for military veterans and active duty service members, Veterans Courts work closely with clients and specifically address substance abuse issues and other challenges that stem from combat-related mental illness.

Corrisoft's AIR program offers a spectrum of smartphone-based solutions that enable agencies to more consistently communicate with their veterans, more effectively deliver support services, and better manage client activity. By leveraging smartphone technology, the AIR program allows case managers to interact with veterans more easily and on a more frequent basis.

AIR offers multiple tools that all work on the same software platform. For high-needs clients, agencies can provide those individuals with a smartphone that has control features. As veterans work through the program and earn more trust, agencies can leverage a check-in app that veterans download to their own personal phone. This spectrum approach enables agencies to administer the appropriate level of accountability and support for every phase of a supervised term.
